The job openings rate generally has moved in the opposite direction of the unemployment rate

- The job openings rate (the number of job openings as a percent of employment plus job openings) decreased during the 2001 recession. As the job openings rate edged up from mid-2003 forward, the unemployment rate declined.

- Neither the unemployment rate nor the job openings rate has returned to pre-recession levels.