Most countries experienced higher growth in compensation costs, on average, over the first 7 years of the last decade than they did over the 2007–2010 period.

- In Taiwan and Japan, compensation costs declined during the 2007–2010 period.

NOTE: Growth rates are based on national currency-denominated compensation costs.