

MONTHLY LABOR REVIEW

---

Volume 135, Number 7

July 2012

Improved measures of commercial banking output and productivity 3

New comprehensive measures of commercial banking output and productivity more accurately reflect the changes that have occurred in the industry

Sara E. Royster

Measuring real bank output: considerations and comparisons 18

The real output of banks is better estimated by counting the number of service transactions they provide than by using the balances of loans and deposits deflated by a price index

Robert Inklaar and J. Christina Wang

Recent trends in the characteristics of unemployment insurance recipients 28

Changes in the composition of the unemployment insurance (UI) population took place reflecting changes in the composition of the unemployed and in the UI takeup rate

Marios Michaelides and Peter R. Mueser

Can you hear me now? Occupational hearing loss, 2004–2010 48

From 2004 to 2010, the manufacturing and utilities sectors had the highest rates of occupational hearing loss of all industry sectors

Luis Felipe Martínez
