Average Energy Prices, San Francisco-Oakland-Hayward – June 2021

Gasoline prices averaged $4.396 a gallon in the San Francisco-Oakland-Hayward area in June 2021, the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics reported today. Regional Commissioner Chris Rosenlund noted that area gasoline prices were $1.393 higher than last June when they averaged $3.003 per gallon. San Francisco area households paid an average of 26.1 cents per kilowatt hour (kWh) of electricity in June 2021, higher than the 24.0 cents per kWh paid in June 2020. The average cost of utility (piped) gas at $1.704 per therm in June was higher than the $1.641 per therm spent last year. (Data in this release are not seasonally adjusted; accordingly, over-the-year-analysis is used throughout.)

At $4.396 a gallon, San Francisco area consumers paid 35.5 percent more than the $3.245 national average in June 2021. A year earlier, consumers in the San Francisco area paid 40.3 percent more than the national average for a gallon of gasoline. The local price of a gallon of gasoline has ranged from 28.0 to 40.3 percent above the national average in the month of June during the past five years. (See chart 1.)

The 26.1 cents per kWh San Francisco households paid for electricity in June 2021 was 83.8 percent more than the nationwide average of 14.2 cents per kWh. Last June, electricity costs were 75.2 percent higher in San Francisco compared to the nation. In each of the past five years, prices paid by San Francisco area consumers for electricity exceeded the U.S. average by at least 47.9 percent in the month of June. (See chart 2.)

Prices paid by San Francisco area consumers for utility (piped) gas, commonly referred to as natural gas, were $1.704 per therm, or 39.8 percent above the national average in June 2021 ($1.219 per therm). A year earlier, area consumers paid 58.2 percent more per therm for natural gas compared to the nation. In the past five years, the per therm cost for natural gas in June in the San Francisco area has varied between 39.8 percent and 58.2 percent above the U.S. average. (See chart 3.)

The San Francisco-Oakland-Hayward, Calif. metropolitan area consists of Alameda, Contra Costa, Marin, San Francisco, and San Mateo Counties in California.

Technical Note

Average prices are estimated from Consumer Price Index (CPI) data for selected commodity series to support the research and analytic needs of CPI data users. Average prices for electricity, utility (piped) gas, and gasoline are published monthly for the U.S. city average, the 4 regions, 9 divisions, 2 population size classes, 8 region/size-class cross-classifications, and the 23 largest local index areas. For electricity, average prices per kilowatt-hour (kWh) are published. For utility (piped) gas, average prices per therm, are published. For gasoline, the average price per gallon is published. Average prices for commonly available grades of gasoline are published as well as the average price across all grades.

All eligible prices are converted to a price per normalized quantity. These prices are then used to estimate a price for a defined fixed quantity. The average price per kilowatt-hour represents the total bill divided by the kilowatt-hour usage. The total bill is the sum of all items applicable to all consumers appearing on an electricity bill including, but not limited to, variable rates per kWh, fixed costs, taxes, surcharges, and credits. This calculation also applies to the average price per therm for utility (piped) gas.
